

Our promise

This ritual we enact, giving our word each to the other, stepping over into a new phase within our lives, is about trust, honour, and being each responsible for the others well being, and happiness.

We call for the support of all things, all powers and all of nature and the spirit to support us in achieving our aims. We give our undertaking to honour this agreement and each other, and to acknowledge that breaking of such an undertaking would deserve dire consequences.

By entering into a handfasting we both agree to respect, honour, be trustworthy and to do all within our power to bring happiness to each other, not to take each other for granted and to start from this day with a clean slate, not holding anything that has occurred before this point against the other. Not to do anything that would harm or hurt the other and to talk openly and honestly to the other about our feelings, concerns and any problems we may see.

We agree to share our bodies, our breath, our council, and our existence while together, and to not forget each other while we are apart.

We seal this with a kiss as we pas through the handfasting gateway.